"I had no idea in 1963 that this would be as important as it became. (it referring to the reaction to the assasination).... I had no concept of the dpths to which it would change our society. Those questions have become clearer tomme with time and hindsight, and that's one of the things I'm trying to illuminate in the movee: Why he was killed, and what happened after he was killed. I think the country definitely took a turn, a fork in the road, with Vietnam; I've said this publicly before."

The Times Picayune
Friday, May 24, 1991